Is Stanley a Fraud?

The S[illegible] of this morning published fac similes of two letters from Livingstone and Stanley to L H Noe of Sayville Long Island who was Stanley's companion through Asia and who has recently written a letter denouncing Stanley as a fraud of the first water

The H[illegible] of yesterday published a fac simile of Livingstone's letter to Bennett and the S[illegible] says that three letters are taken from a number which Mr Noe has put into our possession all in Stanley's handwriting and exhibiting a most startling resemblance to the letter of the Her[illegible] This resemblance seems to us to afford a very strong argument against the authenticity of the Stanley-Livingstone letters and indeed against Stanley's whole account of his journey in Africa It is difficult to see how his pretension that he found Livingstone received from his pen and brought back to Europe a great mass of communications signed with his name which have been printed in both sides of the Atlantic, can be sustained under the light thus cast upon it No one we think can compare the Livingstone letter of the H[illegible] with Stanley's letters to Noe without being impressed with the opinion that every word and every line of these are the work of some hand and that the hand is Stanley Such being the case the whole framework of description falls at once to the ground If this conclusion shall be confirmed by subsequent proofs there will be no dispute but that Stanley is the author of the most gigantic hoax ever attempted upon the credulity of mankind

POLITICAL NOTES

New York city under the present districting of the State loses one Congressman

Vice President Colfax predicts that Indiana in November will give its old Republican majorities of 1864 and 1868

Since the result of the North Carolina election has become definitely known there is painful evidence that the Herald rooster's crow is a "biled crow"

None of the Republican daily newspapers of Boston support Mr Greeley nor do any of them justify Mr Sumner in his midsummer madness His political popularity at the Hub has departed forever

Greeley must not be blamed for falling behind in the race He cannot run very fast He has the Confederacy on his back Tammany in his arms and North Carolina sticking to his heels! Pity the sorrows of the poor old man

The Madison, Wis , State Journal says "We confidently predict a majority for Gen Grant in Wisconsin in November next of at least 20 000, and are strongly confirmed in our estimate by reliable reports from all parts of the State

The San Francisco Bulletin is authority for the statement that Gov H H Haight has said that he will not under any circumstances or in any event support Horace Greeley that as between Greeley and Grant he will support Grant

A law has just been passed in England which forbids the employment of children as acrobats Had such a statute existed in this country three months ago Greeley never could have become the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in his second childhood

The seedy looking chaps who hang around Greeley's headquarters at the Glenham hotel in New York remind us of the Yankee who had five outs and one in "Out of money, out of character out at the heels out at the toes out of credit and in debt

The Missouri Staats Zeitung claims a majority of 10 000 for Grant in Missouri It says the Greeley movement among the Germans has proved a dead failure There is too much of solidity and stability of conviction about that class of citizens to be carried away in opposition to the organization they have hitherto been identified with

No one resented the imputations upon Grant's integrity more vehemently than did Horace Greeley up to the time he was bitten by the mad dog of Presidential office hunting and took the Democratic rabies Now the poor old man reiterates all the lying slanders as he shakes hands with Ben Wood and Boss Tweed across the bloody chasm

Mr Charles Latour President of the German American Republican Campaign Club in the 10th and 17th wards, is collecting signatures of those German voters of New York who support Grant and Wilson in the present campaign The list embraces already the names of thousands of the most respectable citizens of New York Mr Latour pledges himself to collect alone up to the 4th of November next the names of more than 15 000 Grant and Wilson men

The character of the Liberal candidate for President is thus tersely described by the Atlantic Monthly "Mr Greeley is believed to be capricious conceited peculiarly open to flattery and prejudice bold in opinion but timid in action and with that indefinable something in his character which makes it impossible not to laugh at him however much we may esteem him He is unsteady obstinate, and ridiculous—epithets never yet justly applicable all at once to a President of the United States

The Republicans of the State of New York are now very sanguine that they will be able to carry that State for Grant General Porter states that a person interested in betting who has lately traveled over the Empire State with a view of making a calculation offers large odds on Grant carrying the State by 30 000 majority The straight out Democrats of New York city have invited Mosby and Henry A Wise to address a meeting at Cooper Institute Mosby declines probably for the reason that he has already stated his intention to support Grant and is canvassing Virginia for the Republican ticket but Wise accepts the invitation

A Remarkable Circumstance

From the Boston Post

The trial at Marseilles of three men charged with the murder of M Greco a merchant of that city produced through the testimony of witnesses and the confession of accomplices, a story of crime more horrible than the most strongly spiced fiction It is now nearly eight months since some fishermen cruising off the harbor of Marseilles picked up a heavy floating chest containing a mutilated body closely packed in bloody sacking This was the unfortunate Greco, whose taking off was described with full details by those concerned in the deed It appears that Greco, noted for his free living as well as his success in business, quarrelled with two of his companions in dissipation, a broker named Toledano and a merchant named Sitbon The latter proposed to seek revenge through an insult in the open street but the former pointed out the advantages of making away at once and forever with Greco and appropriating the funds they might secure from his safe With this intent, they made peace with their former friend, lulled his suspicions and, having hired a neighboring warehouse for the accomplishment of their purpose invited the victim thither to a carouse in the nature of a house warming The unsuspecting Greco needed no urging and when the warehouse doors were closed behind him, and he sat awaiting the entrance of other guests Sitbon gagged him with a scarf, Toledano beat out his brains with a life preserver, and Nissim, a porter hired for the occasion by the accomplices, twisted a new hempen cord tightly about his throat

He died without a sound and the murderers washing their hands and lighting cigars, sauntered to Greco's lodgings where they rifled his safe of some ten thousand dollars, throwing the keys away Next came the disposal of the body Burial was out of the question and a fear of the city inspectors of provisions deterred them from packing Greco in a hogshead of raisins At last they procured a large box, into which they crowded the murdered man, amputating a limb here and there to make a snug fit, moved it on a truck to the wharf, whence they pulled out in a small boat and cast it overboard But, well as their plans had been arranged thus far, one fatal neglect had been permitted No means was employed to cause the box with its horrible freight to sink and as it floated after them on the tide Toledano exhibited the first symptoms of compunction by exclaiming "It is the finger of God." They returned in haste, divided the plunder, and Sitbon fled to England, but the discovery followed almost immediately, and arrest was succeeded by confession and execution on the 29th of July last, as related in the latest received French papers The cold-blooded character of the whole ghastly business marks this as one of the [illegible] crimes of the day It combines in itself the most revolting incidents of a whole [illegible] of murders, hypocrisy, treachery, [illegible] plotting brutal butchery and studied coolness in the disposal of the body, while its [illegible] kinship to most of the deadly crimes of the period is found in the fact that the original quarrel was about a woman But neither earth nor sea would keep the terrible secret, and a French jury were unable to find in this case, so deeply revolting, those "extenuating circumstances" which constitute the last refuge of criminals there, as insanity does in this country

How to Give Dinners

(From Scribner's Monthly)

The size of the party is a matter of consequence Party is a noun of most indefinite multitude Some numbers arrange well at a table—some ill Six, ten fourteen are favorite numbers They balance symmetrically and give a proper alternation of sex But as a general rule it should be set down that the little dinner party shall not comprise more than ten But given six or ten well selected judiciously grouped people a round table a moderate temperature sufficient light and a good dinner and what further provocation does mortal man need to make him agreeable?—if agreeability within him lies

The dinner need by no means be elaborate. Soup, fish a joint or poultry and a pretty dessert with bright conversation by the way of sauce, is sufficient for any small party And a dozen such in the course of a year do more toward cementing friendliness and extending our hospitable influence than any number of swell repasts from a confectioner's or even than a biennial jam of the most recherche kind presided over by Brown or furnished by Iauch

Every table should have a center—and that center should not stand too high Be it fruit, flowers or confectionary its top should be below the level of the eye Nothing interferes with talk so much as to be forced to dodge this way and that to catch a glimpse of one's opposite neighbor There should not be too much on the table at a time A crowded look destroys elegance The eye demands space as well as the elbow Two vegetables with each course are sufficient.

Hot plates iced water Blessed duo! Temperature should be studied by every housekeeper It is all important and within the reach of all A cold plate makes a good dinner bad and a bad one horrible A hot plate (which costs nothing) improves everything A hot room dulls and stupefies Conversation wilts with the flowers

If the dinner service be white it can be enlivened by various little touches The napkins may boast a scarlet initial or monogram Folded napkins with similar letters in the center may be laid to receive the dishes in lieu of table mats Finger bowls may be arranged to form groups of prettily contrasted tints Flowers in the center or beside the plate of each guest are prettiest of all Nothing lends such grace to food as flowers.

A delicate finish should characterize each detail and a certain amount of ornament Every dish is susceptible of being made pretty as well as eatable A bunch of parsley a circle of sliced lemon vegetables cut into pretty forms potato rice bread crumbs quilled paper adjuncts neither troublesome nor expensive may be made to give a look of elegance to simple fare Above all things perfect and dainty neatness best ornament of all and that cordial home atmosphere which confers savor even upon dry crust

The Reformers

It cannot escape attention that the great Liberal Reform movement has gathered up the great mass of those who have been set aside by the people for incapacity or dishonesty in the public service or infidelity to vital principles. The current is strong, it sweeps up and sweeps along all the floodwood stranded here or there, but in this case the subsidence is likely to be as rapid as the rise, and indeed the yellow current is already losing its force and the signs are that this mass of floodwood will soon be more hopelessly stranded than ever.

The "Reformers" opened the campaign with brag and bluster never paralleled. They could hardly find words to express their contempt for the supposed weakness of their adversaries. It was not to be a battle but a slaughter. Pæans of victory were sung in advance. The North Carolina election came as a staggering, bewildering blow. It was the first knock down, and the Reformers have ever since been lapsing into a gentle and graceful diminuendo. The tone of confidence and bluster is altogether lost. Republicans are coming up with alacrity everywhere to the fight, and the Reformers who had promised themselves an easy triumph are astounded to find themselves confronted by a powerful and compact organization that manifests a disposition to force the fight at all points along the line.

An organization which has thrown away its old articles of faith and is officered and led by renegades who have been rejected by other parties for incapacity or want of principle, is not in just the trim to meet a party which adheres to and has faith in its cause, reposes on its moral strength, maintains an organization which no defection can break and is supported by the majesty of a people who are filled with its achievements and believe that its perpetuity as a ruling power is essential to the peace and welfare of the country.

Livingstone's Letters

The peculiarities of Dr Livingstone's letters have been a subject of remark all over the world. They puzzle all the learned and many have doubted their genuineness. It must be owned that the general style is wonderfully like much of the reportorial writing in the New York Herald, yet the best authorities agree that the authenticity of the letters cannot be shaken. The London Saturday Review, a literary journal of pretension and ability, puts the case thus:

It is not stated whether the letters published by the New York Herald are in Livingstone's handwriting, or whether they were dictated by him to Stanley. It would seem that Livingstone had profited by his residence in the heart of Africa to acquire a considerable familiarity with American literature and slang, and to hit off the racy, sub-erotic, flavor of the New York Herald with conspicuous success. * * * He is quite gushing about "the dears" and "hussies" with their "charming black eyes," "nicely rounded limbs" and "fine, warm brown skins" tattoed all over. Casembe's Queen would, we are assured, be esteemed a real beauty either in London, Paris or New York, notwithstanding the hole she has drilled in the tip of her "slightly aquiline nose."

It has occurred to many that the great traveler may no longer be in his right mind. The London Spectator remarks of the letters:

They are full also of complaints, principally directed against Dr Kirk, who, we imagine, will completely clear himself, and are written with an [illegible] way, or, to speak plainly, a vulgar jocularity as foreign to the great traveler's character as it is [illegible] to conceive. Dr Livingstone writing "hugs" shaped "bulbous below the waist," and describing black girls as "dears" and "hussies" who adorn themselves by "filing their splendid teeth to points like cats' teeth" but who are "very ritterish," and quoting Punch and parodying Lowell, and comparing the faces of Zanzibar slaves to "London door knockers which some atrocious iron founder thought were like those of lions," is not the Dr Livingstone we have all known.

Whatever the mystery about the letters, the fact remains that Stanley found Livingstone. This is conceded by Livingstone's family, the British Government and the best portion of the British press. It is agreed that the evidences of this fact are such as to render imposture impossible. But the letters themselves, purporting as they do to come from a man like Dr Livingstone, are certainly very remarkable.

Very Embarrassing

Our neighbor, the Herald, is kept at work in a lively manner these hot days to draw consolation from the election in West Virginia. It must have consolation therefrom, and its ingenuity is sorely taxed to get it. The other day it declared most positively, on learning of the defeat of the regular Greeley ticket, that the result had no political significance. But yesterday, after reflection, it came to the conclusion that the new Constitution was defeated, and declared that the result "insures the vote of the State for Greeley in November." It proceeded to explain that the new Constitution was "illiberal" and ought to have been rejected, and the Democracy had shown their good faith by repudiating an instrument of their own making. To-day it will learn by the dispatches that the new Constitution has probably carried, and its observations of yesterday will have to be amended. The truth of the situation is that the defeat of the regular ticket is a Greeley defeat, and indicates that Greeley cannot carry the State in November. Davis (Democrat) who is elected to Congress in the First District repudiates Greeley outright and goes to the Louisville Convention. Governor Jacob is well understood to hold similar views.

The Brooklyn Argus (Dem.) makes this statement: "It is impossible, at least it would be folly, to deny that there has been a change of tone, politically, since the days of Baltimore. We meet with more and more resolute Grant Republicans, we meet occasionally with Grant Democrats, men who cannot stomach and will not swallow Greeley, and there are more of our own political faith than we would like to count who will not vote at all. The news-stand people, who formerly sold fifty Tribunes (Greeley) and half that number of Times (Grant) now report the sales exactly reversed. These are facts which must not be ignored." The same paper confesses that the campaign for Greeley is a pull against the stream, and admonishes its party to lend all their efforts to the work.

Was Henry Wilson a Know Nothing? This is a conundrum asked by the Herald. We don't know whether he was or not. Pretty much all the opponents of the Democratic party, about the year 1855, including the great and good Horace Greeley, were Know Nothings. Wilson may have been or may not. But since political antecedents are inquired about, it may be said that Horace Greeley was a Republican once, and that not so very long ago, either.

Chance for another libel suit. Herald republishes from Chicago Tribune the libel on Blanton Duncan, for which said Duncan has sued said Tribune for one hundred thousand dollars.

The "Through Line"

In the following propositions Col Chapman's paper, the Through Line, presents a statement of what will be asked of the Legislature in behalf of the Salt Lake Railroad:

1. A grant of the undisposed of five per cent upon the proceeds of sales of the public lands in Oregon.
2. The swamp and overflowed lands and the proceeds of the sales thereof.
3. These lands to be granted in aid of and upon condition of grading the road to Baker City, including the branches to Walla Walla and [illegible].
4. An earnest and pointed memorial to Congress for aid in the construction of the through line to Salt Lake.

In answer to Mr Slater's letter with reference to a narrow gauge road, Col Chapman says that the question between a narrow and the regulation or wide gauge will remain an open one till his visit to the East this fall. He adds:

It is quite probable that the interest which the Oregon roads, as well as the Union Pacific, shall manifest in having our road of the regulation gauge, may have great weight in determining the question. The written propositions which we have for furnishing for this road 600 tons of iron per month, to be delivered at Portland, duty paid, upon the Company bonds, leaves it optional with our Company whether it shall be suitable for a narrow gauge or regulation gauge. So that there is no necessity for differing upon that question at this time.

Col Chapman is entirely confident that in case means can be provided for grading a section of the road extending from the Columbia river to Baker county, parties East will furnish the iron and put the road in operation. He has propositions from responsible parties to this effect. So that the problem as to giving this great enterprise a start depends to a great extent on the amount of local and State aid that can be furnished for it.

Deady's Reports

The Pacific Law Reporter, in an article on the volume of Deady's Reports recently noticed in our columns, says that this volume has long been looked for with interest, and now that it has appeared its great value can be realized. It says: "Judge Deady has had before him cases of importance equal to those presented in any State, and many of a character doubly valuable because of the novel and intricate questions presented for judicial determination arising in a new country over which his court has had jurisdiction." The review closes thus:

The well deserved reputation of Judge Deady as a Judge must make these reports standard authority. All the opinions are characterized by a clearness and conciseness for which the Judge is noted. His decisions read clearly, without confusion of ideas, and the subjects and arguments of the court are in regular sequence. All repetition is avoided and the points passed upon approached without circumlocutory prefaces. The printing and binding of the book in its seven hundred pages reflect credit on the publishers. The experienced editor of an old established law journal in the East, calling upon us, declared that the law publishers on this coast issue as neat and handsome works as any Eastern house, and cited the present work and Estee's Pleadings as noted examples.

Somebody has now taken to a comparison of the expenses of running the United States Courts under the present Administration and the past. Two or three facts are overlooked. Under the last Administration the fees of the Courts, amounting to $900 000 and more, were applied directly to paying the expenses of the Courts and did not appear in the Treasury accounts of costs. In the next place, in eleven States, the Judiciary was practically suspended, and, therefore, cost almost nothing. The Courts have since been restored in those States, adding, of course, to the expense. Then the Ku Klux trials have swelled the labor and expense of the Courts in the last year. The increase as will be seen is much greater apparently than really, and had it not been for the Ku Klux, the expenses would hardly have increased at all.

It is stated that Alexander T. Stewart, prince of New York merchants, is not opposed to Grant, and has never authorized anybody to say that he was. He authorized Henry Clews a few days since to say as much to General Grant.

Two counties in North Carolina which have a white majority of 9 690 votes gave 1 460 Republican majority in the late election. Does this look as if the election was carried wholly by the colored vote?

The leaders of the Louisville party predict that before November the Republicans will be forced to fight the nominees of the Louisville Convention, paying no attention to the "Liberal" side show.

OREGON

Roseburg [illegible] at five [illegible].

A family of emigrants from the plains across passed La Grande on the 23d inst.

Oats in Douglas county are held at 50 cents a bushel. Potatoes are scarce at any price.

The La Grandites refused at a late school meeting to vote any tax whatever to support a school.

The burglarious epidemic has reached Silverton in Marion county, one case there on Monday evening.

Salem ladies complain because the merchants wet the sidewalks too much. It makes it bad for long trails.

Six hundred bushels of potatoes are expected to be dug out of one and a half acres of ground on Yaquina Bay.

It is reported that S B Rafferty of Washington county has sold his famous two legged calf to a showman for $100.

Salem is making preparations for thousands of visitors at the coming State Fair and for a goodly number at the Legislature.

Two men out of a party of four or five have been arrested by the citizens of Wallowa for selling whisky to the Indians in the valley.

A man carelessly throwing a potato at an acquaintance on the streets of Salem, struck a little child on the ankle and rendered it quite lame.

A contract has been made by the Springfield Mill Co, of Lane county, for a large lot of sugar pine logs to be obtained on the Middle Fork of the Wallamet.

Dr Belt, the physician to the penitentiary convicts, will recommend the abolishment of the shackle to a great degree. He says its constant use is bringing hip disease on many of the prisoners.

A Lane county correspondent says: "There are no Greeley Republicans in this precinct. We are told that just over in the next there are many. When we got over there they are just a little further on."

On Tuesday last, as H B Morgan was unhitching a span of horses from a wagon on Mr S G Reed's Hillsboro farm, the horses suddenly sprang forward, jerking him under the wheels, which passed over the small of his back, inflicting a very painful injury.

The white settlers in Wallowa valley, Union county, have been holding a council with the Indians who insist on the whites leaving the valley. No definite conclusions were arrived at, but another council was agreed on, when it was expected that matters would be settled in a friendly manner.

A correspondent writing from Butte Disappointment, Lane county, on the line of the Military Road, says a great deal stock and many wagons have passed over the mountains for Eastern Oregon by that route this season. The Springfield Milling Company have made many repairs on the road lately, rendering it quite passable.

Seattle has a population of two thousand, does a business of over a million dollars a year, has several large stores, six churches, two public schools, and contains also the Territorial University, and claims to be the commercial metropolis of Washington Territory.

The Vancouver Register compliments Governor Ferry as follows: "Although Governor Ferry is the best abused man in the Territory outside of a few noisy brawlers he is conceded by all parties to be the most active, energetic and competent Executive this Territory has had since the days of Stevens. Even his strongest political enemies admit that his qualities and conduct as Governor reflect honor upon the position."

BE YOUR OWN RIGHT HAND MAN.—People who had been bolstered up all their lives are seldom good for anything in a crisis. When misfortune comes they look around for somebody to cling to or lean upon. If the prop is not there down they go. Once down they are as helpless as a capsized turtle, and they cannot find their feet again without assistance. Such persons no more resemble men who have fought their way to position, making difficulties their stepping stones and deriving determination from their defeat, than vines resemble oaks or spluttering rush lights the stars of heaven. Efforts persisted in to achievements train a man to self reliance and when he has proven to the world that he can trust himself, the world will trust him. One of the best lessons a father can give his son is this: Work, strengthen your moral and mental faculties, as you would your muscles by vigorous exercise. Learn to conquer circumstances, you are then independent of fortune. The men of athletic minds, who left their mark on the years in which they lived, were all trained in a rough school. They did not mount to their high position by the help of leverage, they leaped the chasm, grappled with the opposing rocks, avoided avalanches and when the goal was reached, felt that but for the toil that strengthened them as they strove it could never have been obtained.

When an English lady expressed to the Turkish Ambassador her objection to his countrymen, because she understood they worshipped the sun, he quickly retorted, "Madam, you would worship it here—if you ever saw it."

CITY.

[illegible] —D[illegible] after dark in East Portland is not entirely [illegible] of persons will be seen by the [illegible] narrow escape from serious accident which occurred within the last few weeks [illegible] A short time ago a young man was driving rapidly along one of the more unfrequented back streets about nine o clock Though [illegible] dark the driver did not know [illegible] and did not suspect any danger A person coming on the sidewalk in an opposite direction stopped suddenly and shouted to the driver to stop instantly if he regarded the value or safety of his neck The driver halted, and on examining the ground, discovered a steep embankment where the street was being graded about eight or ten feet high, but a few yards from the horses heads If he had not been timely notified, a broken limb or neck, a crippled team and a dismantled vehicle would have been the result Last Tuesday evening as another young gentleman was returning from the country, about eleven o clock he drove down one of the streets towards a stable The street like the other was being improved and the driver not having the slightest idea that such was the fact, drove off a steep bank and was hurled headlong [illegible] and landed under the horses feet He was considerably bruised and received a kick on one of his legs The team was also injured, and the vehicle narrowly escaped a general smash up It would seem that either the contractors, or the city is responsible for such accidents and losses The leaving exposed of streets that are being improved, and not having anything to notify persons of the fact, is to say the least careless, if not reprehensible

AN OLD LANDMARK —All our numerous readers have doubtless observed the old fir tree which stands solitary and alone on Fourth street, immediately in front of the Skating Rink This tree in all probability has stood there for the greater part of the last century, and no doubt was a respectable sized twig when the first white man made tracks along the banks of the Wallamet, on the present site of Portland Like most other of nature s landmarks, the old fir has a history, and has witnessed many changes that have been in constant progress around it for the last forty years A vast forest has been swept away from around the spot where it still stands and fine brick buildings and palatial residences have sprung into existence, separated in all directions by handsomely improved streets But fate has decreed that the old fir tree must in turn be removed like its numberless companions of the past, and be gathered with its ancient fathers It stands conspicuously along the line of railroad on Fourth street, and must give place to the new improvements—grading and planking—now in progress on that street Already the remorseless eye of the contractor has singled out that old landmark as his victim, and the laws of necessity will not be likely to "spare that tree " In a few days the boughs will be stripped off, and the limbless trunk cut away below the established grade. A few weeks, and the spot which has so long been marked by this old tree, will be covered with a plank roadway, and all traces of its former existence totally obliterated To change and pass away is the common heritage of all nature, whether animate or inanimate.

BODY FOUND —The body of an Indian was found yesterday evening floating in the river some distance below the city From indications the person must have been murdered, as his throat was cut from ear to ear a rope tied tightly around his neck and several stabs were found on his body. The body must have lain in the water from three to four days and was in rather advanced stages of decomposition As soon as discovered the Coroner was notified of the fact, and the remains conveyed to the undertakers A jury was summoned late last evening, and Drs Parker and Strong called to make the usual examination In consequence of the absence of several witnesses and the fact that the physicians deemed a post mortem examination of the body necessary the jury was dismissed until 10 o'clock this morning when the inquest will be continued

ON FIRE —As the train on the west side was on the way to the city last evening about seven miles south of here the track ahead was discovered to be on fire The train halted and a special train was sent from the city as soon as the state of affairs was known The passengers and baggage were transferred from one train to the other. The trains could not approach nearer to each other than about two hundred yards The fire was raging fiercely in the timber along the track, and the brush, in several places, approached so near to the road that the fire was communicated to the track About one hundred and fifty ties were destroyed. As soon as possible, the damage done by the fire will be repaired and trains will be running as heretofore

GARBAGE, ETC —Along the north side of G street, between North Front and North First great quantities of offal, garbage, rotten vegetables, etc have been thrown until a sickening stench greets the nostrils of those who may chance to pass that way Scavengers have made the place a regular ' dumping ' hole on account of its convenience until the authorities promptly put a quietus to the practice by causing a notice to be posted up to the effect that any person throwing such trash in that locality, would be punished according to law The rule ought to be rigidly enforced compelling scavengers to go beyond the city limits to deposit their loads of offensive matter

FOR THE PREMIUM —We learn that the East Portland Band intend entering for the premium offered by the State Agricultural Society for the best music at the State Fair. Professor Parrott, the leader, has been for several months past arranging and practicing new music with special reference to the coming musical contest at the Fair. Some new pieces will be added to the band, a clarionet among the number Our citizens will soon have the pleasure of listening to the new music for the first time

ROADWAY BURNED —We learn that fires were raging fiercely in the woods a few days since along the Bizzell road, north and west of the city Considerable quantities of cord wood were destroyed and the wooden supports used in building a road way along the side of hills were in many places burned away A great many persons were engaged in fighting the element, but their feeble efforts did but little towards staying the progress of the flames

FOURTH STREET —A large force of workmen are engaged along the northern end of this street The street has been planked from F street south ward for a distance of two blocks, the track raised some six or eight inches gutters aprons and cross walks constructed The grading has nearly reached A street, and at the rate at which the work is progressing Fourth will be planked from F to A streets in the course of two weeks

FOR GAMBLING —David Brown was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued from Justice [illegible]s Court. The defendant is charged with the crime of dealing and betting at the game of faro A jury trial was demanded by the defendant, and the case will come up for trial this afternoon at one o'clock As this is an important test case comment as to its merits or demerits is withheld until the matter is disposed of

NEW MILL —Steam has been raised several times in the new saw mill below the bone yard, and a small quantity of lumber was sawed there on last Saturday The old mill at the foot of F street is so crowded with orders for the present improvement of Fourth street that the company have not been able to close down sufficiently long to enable the machinery, etc , to be removed to the new mill

NASBY

MR NASBY AT CHAPPAQUA—A CITIZEN MA[illegible] HO[illegible] IT WAS AVOIDED—INGENIOUS PROVISION FOR THE FUTURE

CHAPPAQUA (Wich is in the State uv New York), August [illegible]

I am quartered now more nearly to my taste than I hev been since the halcyon days uv A Johnsen who is now no more. I hev a room to myself to w[illegible]h my [illegible] is sent. I hev my own private bottle, and the labor is light though the responsibility is heavier than I could wish. I wuz sent here by the Nashnel Democratic Committee to t[illegible] charge uv these premises, and to s[illegible] that our be[illegible] candidate the great and good [illegible] does not make an ass uv hisself more freekent[illegible] than is good for us.

I arrived yesterday morning, and [illegible] assoomed the dooties of the posish[illegible] My first work wuz the inspecshun uv the axes on the farm, wich the great and good Hooris yooses on his trees. I found them all too heavy for sich continuous choppin ez he hez to do. With them axes his strength wood give out long afore the campane is over. I ordered a half dozen lighter ones and sold the stock on hand to the nabern famers, the proceeds uv wich I shel remit to the Nashnel Committee—ef I don't forget it. Then agin I found the ladder wich the great wood chopper yooses to assend trees wuz not only clumsey in its construction but dangerous, and I ordered another uv a better pattern. I hed many other things to reform. Just after the Cincinnati Covenshun it wuz reported to Hooris that it wood hev a good effect ef visitors shood allus ketch him up a tree trimmin branches, and ever since the old man hez gone out at nine in the morning, clum a tree and stayed there till nite, wich loonatic percedure wuz a fearful waste uv time ez visitors only come four times a day. He wuz terribly exhausted. I fixed this by hevin a small but intellectooal boy perch hisself onto a post in the road wich leads to the house, with a signal flag. When a party headed for the philosopher's house makes its appearance, the boy waves the flag, and the great and good Greeley takes off his coat and gets up a tree, waiting to be surprised at his avocation. At first he yoosed to get down too quick to make it look natral, but I hev trained him so that he whacks away with a most bland expression on his face, till I call twice or three times. To save walking too far, I dig up a tree and plant it near the house. One will keep green for ten days, and when the branches iz cut off we take up the naked trunk and put another in its place.

I hev, however, some trouble. My personal appearance is better sooted to the latitood uv Kentucky than Noo York, and I hev to wear a hat without any rim to it, in the sun, to account for the redness of my nose. Then I hev to meet so many kind uv people. We hev here the Old Ablishnist and the Old Democrat, wich are the hardest to manage. Then comes the modified Democrat, who accepts negro suffrage and sich if he kin be ashoored the Post offis in his nativ villag, and the modified Republican, who is willin to swaller amnesty, and likewise to doubt whether universal suffrage wuz a good thing after all, provided he kin be ashoored uv the collectors offis wich Grant refoosed to give him, and wich is now held by a minyun and nepot. In short, we hev all shades here, and its a bother to take care uv em all. I don't like mulat to babies, becoz every one uv em is proof positive that there's been adultery somewhere. For the same reason I don't like coalishun parties. They ain't natral, and every one uv em bears the mark uv sin thro wich it come into the world. Ours is a mule party, ef there ever wuz one, and I heartily wish we wuz thro with it.

I hed a fearful time uv it yesterday. Our picket guard waved his flag. Hooris got up his tree, and in a moment there appeared a delegashen uv Southerners. I took em out under the tree. Hooris came down, and we went to the house, and commenst immejitly discu[illegible] the questions uv the day. The Noo Yorkers wuz importers, and consequently free traders, and the Southerns wuz free traders uv course. The great and good Greeley wuz ekal to the emergency. He did not deny that at various periods of his life he hed leaned somewhat to the doctrine uv perteckshen. What his views were now on this important subjek he wood not at this time state, that is, in full. By references to his letter it wood be seen that all such minor questions hed been left to the people. Ef the people wanted Free Trade, Free Trade they should hev. Ef the people wanted perteckshen, while his views had modified somewhat on that question, he shood—

At this pint I interrupted him. My horrified vision saw that infernal flag wavin. Hooris started for his tree from sheer force uv habit, but I checked him, and I went out myself to meet them. I wuz not left long in suspense ez to who they wuz. They wuz manufakterers from Massychoosits! Here wuz a fix. Southerners and Noo York importers, and Noo England manufackturers, all callin on a Presidenshul candidate to wunst. It was too late to get Greeley out of the way, and there wuz no way but to let em come together and trust to luck. I interdoost em and stood by to see the result. Poor Hooris saw the fix he wuz in, and perspired.

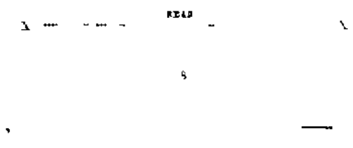
The Noo Englanders opened by a direct reference to the tariff question, when I throwd myself into the breach. I remarked that this wuz no time to tech questions of so little moment—that all these maters hed bin left to the people, who wuz entirely competent to say wat they wanted—that our principal bizniss wuz to clasp hands across the bloody chasm, that reconciliation and brotherly feelin wuz our best holt—that wat every patriot most desired wuz to see the flag of our common country, without a star missin, agin floating on the breeze, and that ef any gentleman desired to see wat perfeckshon the next President hed brought turnip cultur, I shood be pleesed to show em over the farm and quaff with em the coolin waters uv the spring which hed became ez famous, almost ez the Pool uv Bethesda.

One uv the Noo Englanders remarked that the flag wuz all very well—the turnips wuz all very well, and that the spring wuz very like the Pool uv Bethesda, for all the halt and blind, and them with sores, had congregated there, but wat he wantid to know about wuz the tariff on cotton goods.

Here thought I, is trouble, but there wuzn't. At this criticle moment the great and good Greeley wuz so overcome with the heat that he fainted and fell from his chair, wich I with ekal presence of mind, seezed him and toted him to his room. Ez I laid him on his bed his child-like face wuz illuminated with the segestion uv a smile ez he remarkt, "Git em out d—n em, ez quick ez you kin."

I hev loved Hooris Greeley from that minit.

To avoid the constant danger uv two parties uv somewhat different views coming to wunst I immejitly hed the house at Chappaqua altered according to this plan:



The advantage uv this plan is obvious. There can't possibly be a mix ef the conducter is sober. The room marked 1 is for protectionists, 2 for free-traders, 3 for the religious element, 4 for the boys uv a convivial turn, 5 for extreme Southerners and [illegible] for old-time Abolishunists. 7 is a hall running across the house, from which any one of the rooms kin be entered, and 8 is where we shel keep Mr Greeley hived when the weather won't admit of choppin. We hev the rooms furnished in accordance with the tastes uv the people who will see the inside uv em. In the religious room there will be a tract or two and a Bible left carelessly on the table. In the room for the boys there will be stumps uv cigars and a bottle or two in the corners. In the tariff room there will be specimens uv ore and coal, and in the free-trade room there will be the cards uv all the importin houses. I shel reseve all the callers, and after ascertainin who they are, shel take em to the appropriate room, and going out thro the hall shel conduct the great and good Hooris into em, and he kin talk to em in a satisfying manner. Ez we may hev [illegible] in this case more than one party, I hev hed the walls lined so that what is sed in one room can't be heard in another. From this time out it will be easy sailin. [illegible] is the pow[illegible] [illegible] over matter.

Manufacturing industry with us is yet in its infancy, therefore we are forced to depend mainly on agricultural and mining industries. It has been well said that while these industries constitute the substratum upon which we must build, it is also true that without commerce in its broadest sense we should possess but a very small portion of the blessings we now enjoy. When we analyze the subject we are surprised at the discoveries made. We ascertain that more than three fourths of the so called capital of the country and a large share of the labor are employed in commercial pursuits. And upon these farmers and miners as well as artisans depend for needed supplies of implements to facilitate their labors and for the exchange of their products for other commodities needed to enable them to live with any degree of comfort. Without commerce ships, steamboats, railways and telegraphs would never have been built, nor agricultural implements and tools (except of the very rudest sort) ever have been made. In fact the rude methods practiced by savages to obtain a livelihood would still prevail. This view enables us to see plainly that what we want in Oregon is a development of diversified industry.

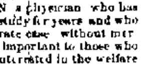
Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Skin Diseases of long standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON [illegible] graduate of [illegible] the principal Hospitals [illegible] Europe [illegible] extensive practice of his Dispensary [illegible] in San Francisco [illegible] patients and those requiring his services [illegible]

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking [illegible] has returned with increased [illegible] for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions [illegible] them for the happiness of marriage [illegible] In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these terrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cured and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who do not allow their publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days. Imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal [illegible] consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, [illegible] intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, a mania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific [illegible] treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily that he has [illegible] [illegible] the complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain named safe relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance, may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions, by inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultation FREE.

Has created many a new business;
Has enlarged many an old business;
Has revived many a dull business;
Has rescued many a lost business;
Has saved many a failing business,
Has preserved many a large business;
And secures success in any business.

GIRARD & SECRET—Stephen Girard used to say: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long, to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule, to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest; long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."
